

Learning, Entertainment and Free Stuff

Having fun is important, and having fun with friends is even better. Here's a few ideas for entertainment on the internet.

Baking Bread

- Basic Sourdough Loaf Recipe
 - That's Angela's sourdough diary/instructions for the rye starter.
 - It's more experimental/diary style. If you've never made sourdough bread instead look at some basic recipes first. It does make good bread though.

Music

- Nine Inch Nails released two free albums.

Movies

- OH YOU PRETTY THINGS: Filmmaker Gary Hustwit is streaming his documentaries free worldwide during the global COVID crisis. Each week we'll be posting another film here. We hope you enjoy them, and please stay strong.
- New movies that you can stream, and good movies that you can now stream.

Games

- Tabletopia: Play tabletop games in the browser, with friends. Lots of free games.
- Roll20 works well for online roleplaying. They have a post with free modules, and Critical Role also released one recently.

Sports

- Down Dog: Yoga app, free until May 1st

Creativity

- 10 Electronic Project Ideas To Do In Self Isolation, Electronics/Music
- Make music with Native Instruments' free Komplete Start Bundle
- Get into modular synthesis (for free on your computer) with VCV Rack or Voltage Modular

Learning

- Cambridge University Press made a lot of resources available during the pandemic.
- Liste der Uni Frankfurt, welche akademischen Publikationen gratis Ressourcen zur Verfügung stellen.
- Skillshare has lots of educational videos, and you get two free months if you haven't used it before
